

Chancellor's Century Council COUNCIL NEWS

Dear CCC Member,

You received an update on our new, three-building campus in Fort Worth at our recent CCC annual meeting. And yesterday, more people got to hear about our ambitious plans.

We held two sessions at the Crescent Hotel in Fort Worth. The morning session was dedicated to briefing prospective funders and other members of the community on the project. And in the afternoon, we brought together professors from A&M System schools with representatives from various industries in North Texas. They talked about how we can work together to supply the region with well-trained and highly educated workers.

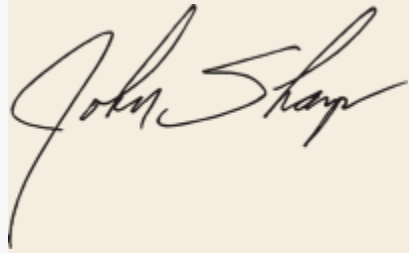

We also got to hear Regent Mike Hernandez talk about what the A&M System can offer.

These sessions were both very well attended and represent an important step forward in the development of Texas A&M-Fort Worth.

The support we have received from the city and county – as well as from stakeholders in the community – signals great days ahead for this new campus.

As always, thank you for your support.
